SHIPPERS DEMAND FREEDOM OF SEAS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 17.—A combination of western meat packers, southern cotton men and the importing interests of the United States to force action by the administration designed to secure the freedom of the seas for American imports and exports will be formed in the near future. The sweeping decision of the British prize court, confiscating to the crown $15,000,000 of American-owned meat products will be the compelling factor. Already the representatives of the southern cotton growers, who have an organization here, are preparing to take advantage of the situation. They plan to call a conference to meet in this city very shortly to map out the work to be carried on.

It is not expected, however, that they will be able to accomplish much before congress meets in December. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, leader of the cotton forces, made it plain today that he does not believe very much can be accomplished through diplomacy. He will make a number of speeches in the south within the next six weeks for the purpose of solidifying sentiment there, and will then return to Washington to get ready for pushing a retaliatory resolution through congress as soon as it convenes. The senator believes that England's action in interfering with meat shipments to neutral countries, coupled with the open general charge of fraud made against Americans by Sir Samuel Evans, who presided over the prize court, will solidify sentiment in congress to such an extent that an embargo resolution can be carried unless England and her allies make sweeping concessions.

It was stated today that there is nothing that the state department can do in the meat confiscation cases, until the packers have exhausted all of their legal remedies under the English laws. They already have announced an intention of appealing the case to the highest authority in England. This will take considerable time, but according to Secretary Lansing it cannot be avoided, as similar action has been taken in the case of the steamer Dacia, confiscated by the French prize courts.

It is expected that this latest action of the British courts will be made a part of the "protest" note to Great Britain and that has been prepared but held up until the German conditions reached a stage where the president and his secretary of state could give their uninterrupted attention to the question. Officials today predicted that as a result of the British action on the confiscation of the meat cargoes, the president would be forced to expedite the British protest regardless of the general German situation. The pressure is expected to be irresistible with the influence of the packers now added to that already being exerted by the cotton men and the importers.

Secretary Lansing has the note complete and it is expected that President Wilson will put the finishing touches on it early next week. The general tone of its contents already have been outlined in the International News Service dispatches. In connection with it the British embassy here has had it pointed out to it that unless material concessions are made before congress meets even the great influence of the president with his party may be unable to prevent the passage of drastic retaliatory legislation.

LONDON HEARS OF CONSCRIPTION PLOT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 17.—A political sensation of the first magnitude was caused here today by the publication in the Daily News of an alleged plot on the part of a minority in the cabinet to force conscription upon Great Britain during the present session of parliament.

If the coterie of ministers favoring conscription fail in their fight, the cabinet will be disrupted, the Daily News says.

The leaders of the pro-conscription group are given as Minister of Munitions David Lloyd-George, A. Bonar Law, secretary of state for the colonies, Winston Churchill, chancellor for the duchy of Lancaster and former lord of the admiralty; Lord Curzon, the lord of the privy seal and Sir Edward Carson, the attorney general.

These leaders in the pro-conscription group have pledged themselves to resign from the government if their fight fails, according to the Daily News. The Daily News is known as a radical newspaper and a supporter of the present liberal government. It has always been an unswerving supporter of David Lloyd-George, while he was chancellor of the exchequer.

If present plans are carried out the leaders of the pro-conscriptionists will launch their big fight early next week. Premier Asquith and Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, have been ranked as opponents to conscription and they will probably lead the fight against the pro-conscriptionists.

"A government crisis, such as would be precipitated by the resignation of the members of the government leading the pro-conscription campaign would be attended by great peril to the nation," says the Daily News. "The indications are that the object of the conscriptionists is to force a general election upon the issue of conscription."

It is believed that the announcement of increased taxation on the following articles will be announced when the new budget is introduced in the House of Commons next week: Tea, sugar, tobacco, spirits and probably beer as well as an increase of the import duties.

It is also anticipated that the government will impose a tax on wages which as present are below the income tax. Coffee and cocoa will probably not be touched.

A long debate upon the new budget, is anticipated and it will likely be November before it is finally discussed.

The $1,250,000,000 credit voted by commons this week is sufficient to carry on the war only till the third week of November.

SEARCHING A SUSPECT.

TAKING NO CHANCES WITH BORDER MEXICANS.

The picture shows one of the incidents in connection with the guarding of the Texas border during the frequent Mexican bandit attacks. Soldiers are here shown searching a suspected Mexican caught on this side of the Rio Grande, for concealed weapons. Every Mexican on this side of the border is under surveillance and is searched at every opportunity.

PROPOSED LOAN CUT IN HALF

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 17.—Shrinkage of the estimated total of the allied loan now being negotiated in New York from one billion dollars to half that sum seemed materially to have cleared the situation today. Administration officials welcomed the suggestion that while the credit secured would likely total three quarters of a billion, the maximum loan openly to be assimilated will only be $500,000,000. The banking firms closely associated with J. P. Morgan and Company, it was pointed out, easily can care for that amount. As a result it is likely that the flood of protests which have been reaching the White House and the state departments will be lessened.

The protests are being filed away. It has been made very plain that there is no desire to take any action on them even though some of them are couched in inflammatory language. In the case of German sympathizers who write their banks threatening trouble should they participate in the proposed loan, the post office department holds that unless the threats are written on postal cards they do not make the writers liable to prosecution. Threats in sealed letters are simply expressions of opinion, officials declare.

It is expected that the federal reserve board will formally reply to the protest filed by United States Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Chicago. It is understood that the position to be taken, which will have the endorsement of President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, will be that the loan is a credit arrangement and as such entirely within the law.

Leading Germans here say that there will be no official protest filed by any of the Teutonic allies. They take the position that persons subscribing to the loan do so at their own risk and that it will be found that it can only be disposed of at a material reduction from par even though it does carry a high rate of interest.

PACKERS SERVE NOTICE OF APPEAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 17.—All the American packers whose products, valued at many millions of dollars, were yesterday declared by the British prize court forfeited to the crown, gave notice of appeal from the decision today. It is expected that the final legal steps will be expedited, and that final judgment will be handed down as soon as possible.

The British press expresses confidence that the decision of the prize court will be upheld in the final judgment and that the findings of Sir Samuel T. Evans, president of the court, will be completely indorsed. The Times asserts that the decision was necessary as a contrary judgment would have practically nullified the order in council declaring a blockade of Germany.

The same newspaper says that the prize court's head was strongly influenced by the decisions of the American courts during the civil war, being guided in large measure by the decisions of Chief Justice Chase and his colleagues, with reference to British cargoes seized as contraband.

"The result, if adverse to American shippers, may be said to be a compliment to American jurisprudence," the Times concludes.

Other immense cargoes are held up by the British government. It is supposed that the decision as to these will be withheld until the appeal of the American packers on the present case is decided.

BRYAN RETURNS TO WASHINGTON

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 17.—With the return of William Jennings Bryan to Washington, the opponents of an increased expenditure for national defense prepared today to secure his pledges to become the leader of their fight. They expect that he will take charge of the opposition in congress to the "big army" plan and that he will be able to prevent the pledging of the country to a policy of preparedness which will mean a much enlarged expenditure of money for the military branch of the government.

Bryan himself declined to outline his position other than to reiterate his belief that the people of the country were not in favor of a lingo policy. He said that he expected to hold conferences today and tomorrow with the publishers of foreign language newspapers regarding plans to end the war. These plans, which still are incomplete, contemplate a visitation by Bryan to the belligerent countries to see whether a basis for mediation could not be arranged. Bryan said today that he did not know just what the final decision would be but insisted that if he make the trip he would do so at his own expense.

The former secretary will leave here tomorrow afternoon for Boston, where he is to address a mass meeting on the subject of the war and its lessons.

CONVENTION OF SODALITIES OCT. 3

Final arrangements for the second annual convention of the sodalities of the Immaculate Conception in the Hudson river valley to be held on Sunday, October 3, in St. Joseph's school hall on Wall street, were completed at the recent meeting of the Children of Mary Sodality of St. Joseph's Church. The following committee was appointed to take charge: The Misses Catherine Humphrey, Nellie Burns, Theresa Brophy and Lena Morris. The delegates at large to represent the sodality of St. Joseph's Church are the Misses Nellie Hannon, Catherine Morgan and Sarah Fennelly. The alternates are the Misses Jane Madden, Elizabeth Hannon and Catherine Madden. The union of the sodalities of the Hudson river valley was formed at Poughkeepsie on the first Sunday in October, 1914, when the following officers were elected: President, Miss Anastasia O'Meara, St. Joseph's Church, Kingston; first vice president, Miss Mary A. Kelley, St. Peter's Church, Poughkeepsie; second vice president, Miss Josephine Meyers, St. Peter's Church, Kingston; recording secretary, Miss Sarah Coburn, St. Joseph's Church, Kingston; financial secretary, Miss Elizabeth A. Talbot, St. Mary's Church, Poughkeepsie; historian, Miss Catherine Goodall, St. Joachim's Church, Beacon; Reverend Director, the Rev. William J. B. Daly, St. Peter's Church, Poughkeepsie. The convention will open in St. Joseph's school hall in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and an interesting program has been arranged for the occasion.

VALUABLE PROPERTY MENACED BY WAR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 17.—Unless the Mexican conference to be held in New York tomorrow can devise some plan for an armistice in northern Mexico, more than a quarter of a billion dollars' worth of property in the richest section of Mexico likely will be destroyed. It was reported here today that realizing this, Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American conferees will endeavor to persuade Carranza and Villa to declare a truce pending an effort to reconcile their differences. Representatives of Carranza here declare that they are certain that their leader will not consent unless the agreement is coupled with a promise that Villa shall not be permitted to replenish his diminished store of munitions during the interval.

Following the lead of the United States, the foreign consuls in northern Mexico are being withdrawn by their respective governments. They are also ordering their nationals to leave the country, abandoning their property to caretakers after leaving inventories with the American consular representatives.

In this connection it was made plain at the administration today that the administration has no intention of armed intervention in northern Mexico, even though the fighting between Carranza and Villa reverts into a war of extermination. All that will be done will be to distribute the troops now on the border and those available for duty there so that they can insure that the neutrality of the United States shall not be violated by the belligerents.

In order to counteract the efforts to secure recognition of Carranza, the state department has been informed that a Villista delegation comprising half a dozen of the brightest men in his movement will come here to deny the Carranzista claims of domination. They will make the open charge that Carranza is frankly anti-American and that recognition of his government will be followed within a few months by another revolution which will depose him.

Starvation in Mexico.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mexico City, Sept. 17.—During the period from August 1 to September 10, two hundred and forty persons died of starvation here. It is feared that the death rate will increase as the American Red Cross has been compelled to abandon its relief work for lack of funds.

Bulgaria's Reply.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Sofia, Sept. 16, via London, Sept. 17.—Official announcement was made today that Bulgaria's reply to the proposals of the entente powers was made on Tuesday. The nature of the answer was not divulged.

Sant' Anna at Azores.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 17.—A Lloyd dispatch from St. Michel, Azores, announces the arrival of the Fabre liner Sant' Anna, on which fire broke out in the hold while enroute to Naples.

Old School Baptist Meeting.

There will be Old School Baptist meeting at the home of Orrille Winchell, 53 Smith avenue, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Elder D. M. Wall of Waterbury, Pa., will preach. All are welcome.

German Spy Executed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 17.—Another German spy was executed in the Tower of London today. The official announcement of the prisoner's death did not give his name.

FIRST BLOOD FOR TIGERS.

Defeated Red Sox in First Game of the Final Series.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, Sept. 17.—Invading the enemy's country in the fight for the lead in the American League, the Tigers scored first blood when they defeated the Red Sox in the first game of the series yesterday.

Although the leaders are elated with the first bout with the leaders, the latter are by no means disheartened. Carrigan's men figure that in order to lose the lead they have held so long it will be necessary for the Tigers to make a clean sweep of the remaining three games. They figure that while this may be possible, it is not probable. An even break is what the Red Sox look for and figure that this will practically clinch the pennant for them.

Carrigan still has a bunch of good twirlers to fling back at the Tigers, and figures that Shore, Ruth, Leonard and maybe Wood will stop Ty Cobb and his teammates. Leonard and James may be the opposing twirlers today.

Erb May Recover.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Deal, N. J., Sept. 17.—Physicians attending Newman Erb, the millionaire railway magnate who swallowed bichloride of mercury tablets by mistake today, expressed hopes for his recovery. While no official bulletin was issued this morning it was stated that Mr. Erb has passed a quiet and very comfortable night, that his condition was unchanged and that the physicians were very hopeful.

WHAT ABOUT BEER PRICE IN KINGSTON?

Will the price of a "bucket of suds" be raised in Kingston and will the sixteen ounce schooner of beer that crosses the bar have its tonnage reduced to twelve ounces? These are important questions to a number of Kingston's residents who are interested in "schooners" as there will be an increase of twenty-five percent in the cost of liquor licenses in Ulster county the first of October due to the new state law that goes into effect at that time.

This means that a saloon keeper in Kingston when he renews his license the first of the month instead of paying the usual $25 will have to dig down into his jeans for $65.25. In the Saugerties, Ellettsville, New Paltz, Glasco, Highland and Port Jervis district instead of paying $300 the license seeker will have to pay $375. In other sections outside of those already named the license fee has been raised from $150 to $187.50.

A store keeper in Kingston formerly paid $300 a year for his license, and the first of the month he will have to pay $375 if he intends to handle liquor. This also affects the druggist who instead of paying $7.50 as formerly will have to pay $9.38.

A schedule of the new license rates has been received from the state excise department at Albany by County Treasurer John A. Snyder and is on file at his office in the court house.

In Ulster county there are about 300 to 350 licenses issued each year.

DAY'S WAR NEWS AT A GLANCE

Berlin—Germans crossed Petrograd-Warsaw railway, and captured Widry. Driven wedge between Russians defending Drinsk and those defending Vilna. French trench section in Champagne captured.

Paris—Artillery duel between Germans and French continued at several points on line. French aerial squadron defeated Austrians in Adriatic.

Petrograd—Admitted Russians retreating northeast of Vilna and in direction of Pinsk. Elsewhere on battle front Russians report successes and capture of many prisoners and guns.

London—Political sensation caused by publication in News of an alleged plot on part of cabinet ministry to force conscription upon Great Britain. Another German spy executed in Tower.

CUTTING OUT USELESS OFFICES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Sept. 17.—For the purpose of making more efficient the various departments of state by consolidating them and thus eliminating overlapping functions, the delegates to the Constitutional Convention adopted a proposed amendment which if adopted at the polls, will reduce to seventeen the number of departments. The proposed amendment repeals sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 of article 5 of the constitution.

During recent administrations there has been a readjustment of numerous departments, new bureaus and officials have been created and in some instances the names of the departments have been changed, so that when a legislative session was over it became necessary to reorganize in more than one instance.

The change of politics has had the effect of inaugurating new ideas in matters of state with the result that this or that department has had certain of its functions taken away to be conferred upon others. The amendment under discussion will cause a discontinuance of this practice.

The proposition specifies these departments which shall be made constitutional: law, finance, accounts, treasury, taxation, state, public works, health, agriculture, charities and corrections, banking, insurance, labor and industry, education, public utilities, conservation, civil service.

The head of the department of finance is to be the comptroller, who is to be elected as heretofore. The head of the department of accounts is to be the auditor.

A new department, he is to be appointed by the governor. The head of the treasury department will be the state treasurer; he will not be elected, however, but will be appointed by the governor.

The state tax commission will have charge of taxation matters as at present, while the secretary of state will administer the department of state. The office is made appointive instead of elective as at present.

The superintendent of public works, appointive as at present, will be at the head of the department of public works. Jurisdiction over canals and highways is given him in addition to his present supervision over public works.

The commissioner of health is to be the head of the health department and the commissioner of agriculture the executive of that department as at present.

A secretary of charities and corrections is to be at the head of the department of charities and corrections, with authority of inspection and supervision of all charitable institutions, hospitals for the insane and state prisons.

The departments of banking and insurance are to be administered as at present, while the department of labor and industry is to be administered by an industrial commission or commission, as may be provided by law. The education department is to have as its head a commissioner of education as at present.

The public utilities department and the department of civil service will continue practically as at present, but the conservation commission will consist of nine members instead of a single commissioner as at present.

The attorney general, made appointive instead of elective as at present, heads the law department. No mention is made of either a prison or excise department.

GERMANS SUPPORT VON BERNSTORFF

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, via Amsterdam, Sept. 17.—Following a conference between Foreign Secretary Von Jagow, Under-Secretary Zimmermann and other officials who have taken a leading part in the diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Germany, it was officially stated at the foreign office today that the government is confident there will be no break in the friendly relations between the two countries.

The conference called by Herr Von Jagow, was held at the foreign office last night. At its conclusion the foreign secretary went to the home of Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, who had returned only a few hours previously from a visit to Munich. The chancellor and Herr Von Jagow conferred until after midnight.

The German optimism revealed by today's frank expressions at the foreign office, appear to be based on the belief that the United States will consent to arbitration of certain points that for a time threatened a serious crisis between the two countries.

A prominent government official stated that Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, had the full support of his superiors at the foreign office, that his pledges as to Germany's submarine policy will be fully ratified and that if necessary further assurances will be given to the United States.

The optimism in government circles is reflected in the German newspapers which for several days maintained an attitude of silence on German-American relations. The national press continues to insist that the issues raised by the sinking of the Arabic will be settled satisfactorily to both countries.

FINDS THE EAST QUITE EXCITING

Arthur F. Ward of San Diego, Cal., who is visiting his aunt, Miss Sarah E. Ward, No. 22 Washington avenue, has found that "effete" east offers as much in the way of excitement as the "wild and woolly" west. On his way to Kingston from the west Mr. Ward stopped over in Albany on Saturday and that night he reported to the Albany police that he had been held up in true old-fashioned western style by two highwaymen who forced him to sign 16 travelers' checks of the American Bankers' Association for sums aggregating $450. The alleged holdup occurred on Chapel street in that city.

Mr. Ward gave a good description of the men he said helped him up and on Thursday the Albany police arrested George Walters and Henry Ward at Springfield, Mass., on the charge of being the hold-up men. They were later arraigned and both denied the charge claiming that they won the money from Ward by matching coins. Unable to furnish bail they were remanded to jail to await further examination on Monday.

Servian Army Ready.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Sept. 17.—A denial of reports that Austria and Germany have massed a big army on the Danube for the crushing of Servia, was made here today by M. Pasich, the Servian premier. The Servian army, now fully munitioned, is ready to make the strongest possible defense of the mountain regions of the country, said Premier Pasich. "Reports of French aviators who are serving in the Servian army show that there are no Austro-German troops massed on the Danube. Germany would have had to put an army of 150,000 men in the field to invade us."

Boys' Department "Open House."

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. held the first of a series of "open house" today at the Y. M. C. A. from 4 o'clock this afternoon until 5:30 o'clock. The guests were the boys of schools No. 5 and 6. Athletic contests were held and the afternoon closed with a swim in the big pool. Other "open house" days will be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

BOYINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Mother Seems to Be Worrying Needlessly

BY F. LEIPZIGER

GHOST OF THE ESOPUS.

Moonlight and Mystery Mingled with the Ringing of Bells.

Is the Esopus creek haunted, or is it simply a case of over-wrought nerves caused by the hot weather of the past few days and the assistance of liquid refreshments used internally? is a question that is puzzling those who have heard the thrilling tale unfolded by several esteemed citizens who claim to have seen the pale form of the apparition gliding over the face of the waters of the creek while the rays of the moon brought out the formation of the figure with startling distinctness. In the beginning, however, it should be remembered that those who tell the tale had first looked upon the wine when it was red and then had left the outskirts of the city behind as they rambled along the romantic shores of the creek in search of some further diversion.

They had left the city limits at the Higgsville bridge and had proceeded along the shores of the creek for some distance. Why they decided to walk along the shores of the creek they are unable to explain intelligently. One claims they were hunting for some candidates for the Democratic party and another claims they just wanted to get a glimpse of the deer that Policeman Kuehn saw on the Kingston Academy campus the other night. As has been said they had proceeded but a short distance from the bridge. At least in all fairness they believe it was but a short distance but their friends have found it impossible to pin them down as to the exact distance they had traveled up to that time. Anyway they proceeded until suddenly one clutched the other by the arm and in a frightened whisper said "Look."

One swears it had three legs while the other states it assumed the form of a man. The face was in the shadow and was undistinguishable. As the men looked with startled glances the apparition seemed to plunge suddenly down toward the sparkling waters of the creek below. Unable to move from the spot the watchers were held spellbound until they saw the apparition rise apparently from the depths and glide over the water toward them.

What occurred next is a blank. They found themselves, however, a short time later in the friendly shelter of a cafe bar and with trembling hands poured out a liberal portion of tangible spirits.

While that is the end of the adventure so far as those who claim to have seen an apparition is concerned a peculiar freak is added to the story by the fact that a reputable citizen stepped in the uptown office of The Freeman the other morning and asked the reason as to the court house bell ringing.

The busy reporter had not heard the bell but he investigated and was informed at the court house that the bell had not been rung nor had it been heard to ring. Inquiry throughout the building brought forth the fact that one clerk thought the bell had rung but was not positive as to whether it was the court house bell. A bell had rung, however, of that the clerk was positive.

The mystery of the court house bell and the question of whether the Esopus is haunted go hand in hand. One is solved the other should also afford a solution.

Whether the apparition seen along the Esopus banks visited the court house and rang the death knell of the local Democratic hopes on the court house bell is too much for the writer to figure out with the thermometer where it is.

This hot weather offers unexcelled opportunity for those who like to sit in the shade and puzzle over such problems and to them is left the solution if any is to be found.

Final Band Concert.

The last of the series of band concerts this season was given at Kingston Academy green last evening, and was, perhaps, the most largely attended of any of the concerts. Quite naturally the playing of the band under Conductor George Muller's baton, sounded exceptionally well as the night was such that the instruments could far better hold their tune than on previous nights. Enough interest has been shown in these band concerts to make it well worth while considering their permanent establishment another year, particularly as there is no other musical performance to be counted upon during the summer months, with which to entertain our people in the city. While last night's program was favorably commented upon in certain quarters as being exceedingly "popular," it is very doubtful if half of the people in this city ever heard the names of the compositions, and perhaps the same might be said of the music.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1333—A Unique and Pretty Costume—Ladies' Costume, With or Without Bolero, and Panel Trimming, and With Two Sides of Sleeve.

Embroidered poplin was used for this style, combined with chiffon tulle. The waist is simple and lovely with the cool comfortable square cut neck and new bell sleeve. The sleeve in wrist length is equally stylish. The panel trimming may be attached to the bolero and thus could be finished separately and made to wear over any dress. Lawn, organdy, dimity, repp, batiste or linen, grenadine, voile or garbancine are equally desirable. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 7 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for the entire dress in a 36 inch size. Bolero and panel trimming in different material will require 2 1/2 yards. The skirt measures about 2 1/2 yards at the foot in a 36 inch size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 17, 1915.

The New York bankers who are dickering with the Anglo-French Commission over a loan are reported to have agreed to cut the proposed billion dollars down to half that amount and to stipulate that the credit be used entirely for commercial purposes and not for buying war munitions. The reduction in amount is dictated by several considerations of prudence, but the stipulation regarding the use of the credit appears to us rather childish. These foreign countries can make shift to pay for war material in the regular way if they are relieved of the necessity of settling immediately for foodstuffs and the like, so that the condition imposed is all but meaningless. It is notable chiefly as proving once again that there is a good deal of sentiment in business transactions and that even the closest-fisted men are swayed by other motives than the accumulation of money.

As a matter of fact, we have no money which we ought to lend to Europe, and everybody would be opposed to it if there seemed to be any other way to keep up the sale of our products abroad. President Vandenberg of the National City Bank of New York stated the other day that the money invested in the electrical power and allied industrial interests has amounted to half a billion dollars during the last five years, and that "for several years to come four hundred million dollars a year of fresh capital could be employed in new electrical development." Furthermore, electrical development is only one of many ways in which we have use for capital. Money loaned to foreigners cannot, of course, be used at home. Uncle Sam appears to be in much the same position as a business man who is compelled to postpone enlarging his plant because he has to lend money to a customer who may otherwise fail. Another point which must not be overlooked is that, when the loan is made, interest rates increase. We were just getting to the point where 2 per cent was considered reasonable interest on a Government bond, but now France and England are evidently willing to pay about three as much. This is bound to have an effect upon the interest rates which private individuals must pay. It is true that we have laws against usury, but there are ways of getting around them. It is a good time to refrain from reckless business expansion.

The confiscation of fifteen million dollars worth of American meat products by a British prize court may be in accordance with international law, but we shall be unable to think so until higher authorities pass upon the appeal which has been made. The Chicago packers may have suspected that the ultimate destination of their shipments was Germany, but fifteen million dollars is a pretty big fine for being suspected of having a suspicion. International law is so unsettled and is so intricate that no one's opinion is worth much unless he has made a life study of the subject. We can but look to our President and Secretary of State, who are charged with such knowledge, to see that Americans get their rights. If a foreign power can seize food shipments to a neutral port without at least giving full compensation, the Administration will have to explain in simple sentences why it is so, if it expects to retain public support. Whatever the rules may be, they cannot, of course, be changed during the war, but afterward we are of the opinion that they will be so altered that in future wars neutral nations may carry on their commerce unhindered.

So far as we have been able to observe, our statesmen and big business men are drifting along instead of making an intelligent study of the conditions which will prevail when the war ends. According to the Russian paper, Novoe Vremya, there is no such indifference in Germany. It asserts that it has knowledge that German manufacturers are utilizing labor at army rates of pay in order to accumulate vast stores of cheap goods with which to flood the market when they can again be reached by victorious ships. This may or may not be so, but it is possible, and is quite in harmony with what we have seen of the German policy of preparedness for the future. Even if the story is unfounded at present, it at least hints at what is likely to happen. When the fighting is finished Germany's tremendous energy will at once be directed to commercial expansion. There will be so much feeling against her in Europe for a while that she will not be able to do much in neighboring markets, but in the United States, providing the submarine issue is settled satisfactorily, she will have a rich field. With the kind of tariff we now have there is likely to be an end of some American manufacturers, and unemployed workmen will march along the streets looking into stores filled with goods marked "Made in Germany."

IS THIS TRUE?

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Is there justification for the charge of extravagance seriously brought against American women? There is a notion, more or less widely credited, particularly by the casual foreign observer,—and if he happens to put his impressions in print that notion is conspicuously in the foreground—that American family men are good money-makers, their womenkind exceptionally good spenders.

There is much to be said on both sides, but fair analysis, in the main, never leads far from the conclusion that when the pinch of needful economy is felt in the home the woman is almost unfailingly the first to make retrenchments in personal and household accounts.

It would not be fair to omit the true statement that there are women who simply refuse to respond to the economy-call until the day comes when they are driven to the wall. But one is speaking of women as they run.

And women, home women, are trained in ways of unselfishness, and when they are at all in touch with the family income, its extent and the outgoing channels, personal interest and loyalty stimulate a desire to regulate expenditures to meet the demands. With rare exceptions, it is only when there is lack of confidence in making known the true financial condition that there is unwillingness to share the burden of economy, and generally it leans rather heavier on the woman's side—though not always, one is very sure. But hers the duty of lengthening the life of an already well-worn family outfit by the wearying process of turning and turning again, by sundry patches and what-not; hers the obligation to supply a daily menu, tempting, palatable, nutritious, for the least possible outlay. And that she generally goes about it all bravely, willingly and with success is the best refutation of the charge of extravagance held at her door.

When there is perhaps an equal tendency to extravagance, it is more apparent in the woman because her follies are likely to be betrayed in matters of dress, entertainment and the like, whereas a man may be wasteful and prodigal indeed in dozens of ways known only to himself. The extravagant masculine dresser is not frequently noted where means are limited; and when contrast is made in this particular field the apparent advantage is his.

Observers beyond the sea declare that an American housewife wastes enough to keep a thrifty French or other foreign family fairly comfortable; and doubtless there is more than a small measure of truth in the assertion when applied to the classes where money is abundant; but in the average home where waste must be avoided, the housewife apparently remembers her obligations, and if the frugal French, German or other woman over seas makes a better, wiser showing than does the careful manager at our door, she deserves a crown on her head.

For some of us have met at close range careful dispensers of incomes who declare that they never are guilty of wasting a thimbleful of milk, and whose dollars and pennies are spent with a very temperate hand.

Occasionally one sees a young woman start housekeeping with ideas all out of proportion to the limited salary she has promised to share, and she deserves all the censure she gets, for it is neither fair nor honorable knowingly to start life on a modest salary and attempt to make it do the work of a large income.

But, all told, the ordinary observer, bearing in mind the many homes where the watchful wife and mother has borne the brunt of necessary economy, and often has added to the income by her own productive work, will be slow to admit the charge of extravagance against the American woman.

Modern conveniences: Incubators and fireless telegraphy.
Benjamin Franklin is the founder of electricity.

Lord Raleigh was the first man to set the invisible Armada. (English.)

Franklin produced electricity by rubbing cats backwards.

Lincoln had a woman make him a suit of homespun from rails which he had split. They were hickory rails, hence hickory shirts.—Kansas City Star.

Attention Anyway.

Lady Roberts has told a story concerning a smart answer she once heard a soldier make to a remark of hers in India. She was visiting some military hospitals out there and was so delighted on what she saw that she exclaimed: "I think the nurses deserve a medal for this campaign as much as anyone, and I hope they will get one." "I don't know about a medal," said a witty officer who was in attendance; "but they are sure to get plenty of claps!"—London Answers.

A Thought on Marriage.

Senator Burton said at a wedding breakfast in Washington: "It is a cheerful sight to see a good, well balanced marriage, such as this one. What a sad thing it is, on the other hand, to see one of those marriages where the groom has a lot of bad habits that we know, for all the bride's devotion, he will never be able to break away from."

"When I hear of a girl who is contemplating such a marriage, I always feel like saying to her: 'To marry a man to reform him is like trying to make a good omelet out of bad eggs.'—Washington Star.

He Desired It.

A boy walked into the office of the telegraph company at Chicago and asked for a job. He said his name was "Missouri."

The manager happened to want a messenger boy just at that moment and gave him a message that had to be delivered in a hurry. "Here's your chance, my boy," said the manager. "These people have been kicking about undelivered messages. Now, don't you come back until you have delivered it."

A little while afterward the telephone rang. On the other end of the wire there appeared to be a building watchman, somewhat terrified.

"Have you got a boy they call Missouri?" inquired the watchman. "We had him 10 minutes ago, he slipped the manager."

"That Missouri fellow came over here and said he had to go to one of the offices. We don't allow no one up at that office at this hour and I told him he couldn't go."

"Yes, yes," said the manager. "Well," said the watchman, "he said he would go and I had to pull my gun on him."

"But you didn't shoot him?" exclaimed the manager. "No," meekly came back the response over the wire, "but I want my gun back."—Philadelphia North American.

Endless Anticipation.

"It is well that the pleasures of anticipation mean much to us," remarked the Plunkville philosopher.

"For instance?"
"Now, I love grand opera and whenever I see a grand opera company billed for Plunkville I anticipate its arrival with keen delight."

"Well?"
"But before the date scheduled the company usually busts."—Louisville Courier Journal.

Freight Handlers Strike.

The yards and piers of the West Shore railroad at Weehawken are practically idle owing to the strike of four hundred freight handlers there. Railroad officials sent hurry calls for 100 special policemen and they in turn struck. The police demanded 50 cents an hour while the railroad was willing to pay only 25 cents. Hundreds of cars are left standing with but few freight handlers to transfer the goods. Among the cargoes are beef, flour and other supplies for New York and for export trade. Trouble between Austrians and Italians caused the strike.

HESPERIAN NOTE CLOSES CASE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 17.—Germany's note to the United States asserting that there was no evidence to show that the Allan liner Hesperian was sunk by a submarine and the acceptance of this explanation by the state department, unless the facts later are changed closes correspondence on the submarine question between the two governments. Hereafter the negotiations will be continued through informal conversations between Ambassador Gerard and the Berlin foreign office and between Ambassador von Bernstorff and Secretary Lansing here.

These negotiations now have been suspended temporarily until Berlin directs the next move. Count von Bernstorff already has informed his government of Washington's impatience with the last Arabic note and of President Wilson's insistence that nothing short of a complete disavowal of the intention of the German submarine to injure Americans will continue the unbroken relations between the two powers. The state department, moreover, having forwarded to Berlin a complete summary of the affidavits of Arabic survivors, including many Americans, feels that the German foreign office must alter its position, once it is in possession of all of the facts in the case. And the Arabic affidavits are unanimous in the statement that none of the survivors saw the submarine, whence it is inferred the liner could have had no intention to ram something which had not been observed.

Officials therefore declare today that the final verdict in the case must be rendered on the evidence now in, and without more delay than is necessary for a full consideration of the facts by the German authorities.

ARCTIC EXPLORER STEFANSSON SAFE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 17.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the famous explorer believed to have been lost in the Arctic, is safe. The Canadian government today announced the receipt of a dispatch from the explorer stating that he was continuing his work in the polar region.

This dispatch was sent from Baillie Island, via Nome, Alaska, under date of August 31. This was the first time that Stefansson had been heard from since April 7, 1914. Because of his failure to report in the meantime it was considered practically certain that he and members of his expedition had perished.

Stefansson's message, sent to the naval department, was as follows: "As unavoidable delays threatened and the running cost of chartering Polar Bear was high, I purchased her and engaged her on terms similar to Karluk. Engaged Hoq, engineer of schooner Ruby, to take place of Blue, of Alaska. Engaged five extra helpers for southern parts who have ample outfit for one year and polar bear for two years. Plan continue northern exploration to 145 west and 82 farther north if northerly cause is pursued."

Stefansson had been engaged by the Canadian government to head an expedition for exploration in Arctic waters.

With the famous explorer when he left Martin Point in March, 1914, were Ole Anderson and Storker Storkerson, the party being well equipped with supplies and transportation accoutrements.

Throughout the summer trading schooners and whalers plying in northern waters kept a sharp lookout for Stefansson, but got no trace of him.

FALSELY LABELED PATENT MEDICINE

Fifty Patent Medicines Proceeded Against For Fraudulent Claims as to Curative Powers of Products.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—

More than half a hundred legal actions have been terminated successfully under the Sherley amendment to the Food and Drugs Act, which prohibits false and fraudulent claims as to the curative or therapeutic effects of drugs or medicines. Criminal prosecutions against the manufacturers were brought in 25 cases, but in 21 instances the guilty and fraudulently labeled medicines were seized while in interstate commerce.

Claims made by the manufacturers for the curative powers of these preparations ranged from phrenetic, smallpox and diphtheria to coughs, colds and scalp diseases. A number of other criminal prosecutions and seizures are pending in various federal courts throughout the United States because of alleged violations of the Sherley amendment similar to those which have already been tried. The officials charged with the enforcement of the Food and Drugs Act are of the opinion that the evils of the patent medicine business can be stopped only by the most drastic action.

It is pointed out that traffic in medicines for which false and fraudulent claims are made is not only an economie fraud of the worst kind, in that a worthless preparation that costs but a few cents is frequently sold for a dollar or more a bottle, but that health, and even life, is endangered by failure to secure the service of a physician in such serious diseases as tuberculosis, diphtheria, pneumonia and scarlet fever, until too late, because reliance may have been placed in the curative powers of some worthless preparation which is claimed to be a never-failing remedy. The deluded victim may not realize his danger until the disease has reached a stage too far advanced for even the ablest physicians to cope with it. Effective treatment depends in most cases on applying it during the early stages of the disease.

Suggestive Name of "Family Physician" Fails to Save This Preparation.

The Houchens Medicine Company, of Baltimore, Md., pleaded guilty to the charge that a preparation called

"Family Physician" and shipped by them into interstate commerce was falsely and fraudulently labeled.

Among the many diseases for which this medicine was recommended by the manufacturers in statements appearing on the labels and accompanying circulars were diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, smallpox, bronchitis, neuralgia, croup and all diseases of the throat and lungs. The following quotations from the label, carton, or circular are interesting:

"The public is hereby assured that this is the Genuine and Original

Family Physician. * * For fever

you need not give anything else but this medicine, it will keep the rash out itself. * * For cases of smallpox take plenty and often—use care, leave no use over, just give the medicine and what pimples are under the skin will come out, the rest will be carried off by the medicine. * * Also a wonderful and positive remedy for dyspepsia, keeps measles out nicely, regulates the bowels without trouble, and by purifying the blood prevents your liability to disease."

Analysis of the product which was claimed by the manufacturer to be effective in the treatment of so many virulent and contagious diseases, as well as a variety of minor ills, showed that it was a sirup containing

19.2 per cent non-volatile matter,

8.9 per cent alcohol, anise and a vegetable cathartic drug. The government, therefore, charged that the medicine did not contain ingredients or medicinal agents effective for the relief and cure of the diseases which it was claimed to cure. The court imposed a fine of $75.

Remarkable Claims for Dr. H. J.

Ingham's Vegetable Expectorant

Ne'erine Pain Extractor.

A plea of guilty was entered by H.

A. Ingham & Co. of Vermones, Vt., to the charge that statements and claims as to curative powers of product called "Dr. H. A. Ingham's

Vegetable Expectorant Nerve Pain

Extractor" were false and fraudulent. An analysis of a sample of the product showed that it consisted of common salt, Glauber salt, baking soda, and a small amount of tartaric acid. It was claimed by the manufacturers that his preparation reproduced the medical properties of the great European springs famous for centuries for the cure of diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, kidneys, or bladder, and that it represented the medicinal agents contained by the evaporating of the water from famous European springs. The government alleged among other things that these claims were false and misleading. It was also alleged that the statements in the circular indicating that the preparation contained ingredients or medicinal agents effective for dissolving gall stones, for the prevention of gastritis, for curing diabetes, for preventing or checking chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and for relieving catarrh of the bladder, were false and fraudulent. A fine of $100 was imposed by the court.

Long List of Other Misbranded

Medicines.

The following list includes other preparations against which the government's charge that they were falsely or fraudulently labeled was sustained by the federal courts. Statements were made on the labels of, or on the circulars accompanying, the preparations intended to make the purchaser believe that the medicines were effective cures for a great variety of diseases for which they were recommended by the manufacturers or promoters. The main allegations of the government were upheld by the courts and judgment accordingly entered in connection with each of the following preparations:

Radam's Microbe Killer.

SECURE AGAINST BLOCKADE.
No Navy in the World Big Enough to Patrol All Our Seaports.
Approves of the United States occupies a unique position among nations. A blockade of its sea ports is absolutely impossible. There are not ships enough in the world to achieve it. Between Bangor, in Maine, and Corpus Christi, in Texas, there are forty ports connected by rail with the vast network of iron rail which extends over all parts of our country. There are forty ports where cotton and wheat and cattle and canned and salted foods could be placed on shipboard, and a foreign power could not more blockade all of them at once than it could prevent the ship and the salmon from swimming in our rivers to spawn.

In the event of war we would be immune from the ravages of blockade. Our sea ports are not only safe from attack, but at least one-third of our nation, or the rest of any great nation, which is separated by an ocean from its adversary, is absolutely an impossibility. There must be some places where food could be sent, but there is no place where they could be sent, for those who came would stay. A foreign fleet would never float over any inferior city. — Los Angeles Times

ELLENVILLE.
Ellenville, Sept. 17. The members of the Dorcas Society held a very pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. James S. Vernoy on Market street Thursday afternoon. The annual election of officers was held and the following ladies were elected to office: President, Mrs. W. C. Rose; first vice president, Mrs. George E. Andrews; second vice president, Mrs. William Whelan; Jr. secretary, Mrs. Ira Schoonmaker; and treasurer, Mrs. E. B. Saunders. Following the business session the hostesses served very nice refreshments, and this was coupled with a delightful social hour. The members are invited to meet with the Misses Bradford and Clara on Thursday, October 7.
"Tony" DeWitt, a well known colored man, died Wednesday night at the age of 16 years. Deceased was the son of Peter DeWitt and born in Ellenville and had always resided here. For many years "Tony" had been employed at the Mitchell House. Surviving are his wife and father. Funeral arrangements to be made later.

Spontini's Decorations.

Caspario Spontini, the composer, regarded himself in the light of a demigod, and when inspirations crowded upon him he donned a wide, togalike gown of white silk with a border of gold and a fez of white silk embroidered in gold from which a heavy tassel hung down. With great dignity he sat down before his desk, and if a grain of dust was visible on the paper on which he penned his music he rang the bell impatiently for his servant to remove the obstacle. Spontini owned so many medals and decorations that they could no longer be accommodated on his breast. At a grand musical reunion at Halle an old musician remarked to a comrade: "See how many decorations Spontini has while Mozart has not one." Spontini, who overheard it, replied quickly: "Mozart, my dear friend, does not need them."

BLUNDERS OF AUTHORS.

Some Queer Things of Which Fiction Characters Are Guilty.

For many years a favorite pastime of the literary dilettante has been to ferret out mistakes made by celebrated authors. Writers of the highest standing have been guilty of absurd "blunders," such as Flaubert's assertion that "the two adversaries were placed at an equal distance from each other." Mistakes of this sort have been excused on the ground that the authors were working under pressure of inspiration and were therefore likely at any time to make minor errors.

Stories of today do not, as a rule, appear to be written under the stress of temperamental excitement. Yet, in spite of their seemingly cool sophistication, they are not lacking in curious mistakes. A short list of these errors has been compiled by a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger:

I screamed in silent rage.
A girl tore her eyes from the stage, but her ears still lingered.

"I will never speak to you again as long as I live," hissed Dolly. (Just try to hiss it.)

Her feet were swollen from standing in wet, salty water.

Like Adela, he had dark brown hair, with enormous black eyebrows, a mustache and a short beard.

What, therefore, was our surprise to find Tish sitting by the fire in her bath robe and slippers with a cup of tea in her lap and her feet in a tub of water.

HE WASN'T MAKING MONEY.

But Still He Had a Good Reason For Congratulating Himself.

He was a renter, and at least every other season he was occupying a different farm. By a friend's advice he had moved the year before into an entirely new field, a dozen miles from his usual haunts, and had not been seen for several months. When the friend did see him at last it was quite by accident, business taking him into the old man's neighborhood. The farmer hailed him from the cornfield and came out to the fence.

"Hello," said the friend. "Is this your farm?"

"Yes; and I just come over to tell you, sir, that I'll be ready to pay part of that claim of your'n before long."

"You must be doing well."

"I think I'm doin' fust rate, and I'm powerful obliged to you, sir, for headin' me this way."

"I am always glad to help if I can."

"I knowed that, sir, and that's why I come away over here so far from home. It's kinder strange to me, but as long as I am doin' as well as I am I am goin' to stand it."

"Are you making any money?"

The old man's face brightened perceptibly. "No, I ain't sir," he replied hopefully, "but I'm losin' it slower'n I ever done in my life before."—Argonaut.

Men's New Fall Suits and Overcoats

In Society Brand and Hickey-Freeman Models

Sold in Kingston Exclusively at

SAVARD & MCCARTHY'S

This is an authoritative announcement of new styles by the two concerns that share leadership in determining fashions for men--

The Style Creators for Men and Young Men

Their styles are stated with the same authority as when the Bank of England declares a rate of exchange. Hence wearers of Society Brand and Hickey-Freeman clothes are correctly garbed to the last detail of style, fit and fabric.

"The Poole" suit is a Society Brand sack model, as shown in the picture—a style young men will take to. This model comes in many new and distinctive fabrics and colorings.

"The Chicago" is a Society Brand model, in youthful lines, and yet so designed that men who keep young in apparel also wear this model.

"The Bantam," a suit by Hickey-Freeman, is a new model, very smart and distinctive in line and cut, patch pockets, sleeves with cuff.

Quality and Style are the striking features of the new fall clothes for men—exemplified in the Society Brand and Hickey-Freeman models.

HOW ULSTER FARM PRIZE WAS WON

The Ulster county farm exhibit which took first prize of $250 at the state fair at Syracuse, while entered in the name of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, was not an exclusively farm bureau exhibit. It was necessary for some organization to enter the exhibit and the farmers who contributed very wisely selected the farm bureau, although a number of them were not members of that organization.

J. Milo Hepworth of Milton, who returned from the fair on Thursday, says that five counties had exhibits and the contest was very close, especially between Ulster and Orleans counties. Orleans county has taken first prize for a number of years and had a fine exhibit which it had taken three automobiles eight days to collect, while the Ulster county exhibit was gathered and packed in two days. When Mr. Hepworth left the fair on Thursday morning the award had not yet been made and he was in a state of great suspense until he received a telephone message Thursday night that Ulster county had won.

BRYAN TO SEEK PEACE IN EUROPE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 17.—Headed by Dr. William L. Fargo, of New York, representatives of 300 foreign language newspapers published in the United States today conferred with William Jennings Bryan on the suggestion that the latter go to Europe to confer with Pope Benedict and the leaders of the belligerent and neutral nations in the interest of peace. Bryan has already signified an intention of making the trip if he can be assured that it will "make for peace."

The Tows.

The tug Baker is bound down from Albany with the Cornell tow. The John H. Cordts is on the way up from New York with a large number of ice barges owing to the great demand in New York for ice.

WE'RE not finicky about price or profit. We don't measure our success on the basis of an extra dollar or two it might be possible to make on a suit or overcoat, just because the quality is there to justify it. . . . We're after friends first and having won them we want to keep 'em--always.

Take for instance today's arrival of some thirty or forty new Fall styles from the House of Kuppenheimer. As a judge of good clothes, we wager you would say $30 or $35 would be about right. . . . You're wrong. The price is

GILBERT AS A WIZARD.

Curious Tricks of an Old Time Investigator of Electricity.

H. G. Wells has called attention in "The World Set Free" to a half forgotten worthy who in the spacious times of great Elizabeth, loomed large indeed. Science, to be sure, does not forget him, and one great English poet, Dryden, has proclaimed with resonant emphasis.

Gilbert shall live until loadstones cease to draw.

Notwithstanding how many young students of electricity today ever heard of William Gilbert?

It was Gilbert, Queen Elizabeth's court physician, who first puzzled his brains with rubbed amber and bits of glass and silk and shellac, says Mr. Wells, and so began the quickening of the human mind to the existence of this universal presence. And even then the science of electricity remained a mere little group of curious facts for 200 years, connected perhaps with magnetism—a mere guess that—perhaps with the lightning. . . . Except for the lightning conductor, it was 250 years before electricity stepped out of the cabinet of scientific curiosities into the life of the common man.

Gilbert's theories and guesses about magnetism—he concluded that the world is a vast spherical magnet—were serious and far-reaching, and he embodied them in a book with a ponderous Latin title—the first great book on physics published in England. But his experiments were chiefly of the curio and plaything sort. An English collection of Elizabethan letters and anecdotes of court life quotes the opinion of a provincial young lady of quality, but recently come up to London to accept a position in the queen's household, who had witnessed some of them. She wrote home to her mother:

"The queen is now well recovered of her sickness, which was but little, tho' it lookt at first as it would be greater. She puts much trust in her doctor, one Gilbert, and see doe her ladies for the moste parte and I am taught at or alle but one. Truly Marguerite for that I doe see the maine and the cause that they bee pet such as are appointed to attend them, take a long time. I have seen her please to take a long time for the digestion of the queen's food. I have also seen her and her ladies of ambre from another and a squire of the waiting of her Love from another if she have it about her and can be persuaded to give it uppe, and making the one to give to and give forth the squire of the one and the others one to pick the other uppe by touching of it—and a blacke cattle coming in he rubed her that she bristled and gave forth the little furies that danced alonge her furre in the dark, as if the wyles that love blacke caters were stroking her back. Soche matters are of the drel and shoulde not be medled with for sporte, they are not meet for good Xtians."

Poor, timid little lady! If she deemed Dr. Gilbert's tricks and cures of 300 years ago so perilous to the soul what would she have thought of the electric shocks, baths, massage and all the varied tingling, prickling, crackling and spark spitting electrical devices of our modern physicians?

A Woman's Right.
"And how long have you voted?"
"Twelve years."
"And how old are you?"
"Twenty-two."—Life.

GENERAL GOURAUD STARTING FOR RIDE

WOUNDED FRENCH GENERAL RECOVERING.

Gen. Gouraud starting for a ride from the hospital.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Gen. Gouraud, the first commander of the French forces on the Gallipoli peninsula, who was seriously wounded in the arms and legs, is now on his way to recovery and is able to take daily rides in his automobile. It is expected that he will be able to enter active service again soon.

Before the Toothbrush.

Before the invention of toothbrushes people used to clean their teeth with linen. This is evident from William Vaughan's "Fifteen Directions to Preserve Health," published 1602, in which the author tells those who want to keep the teeth "white and uncorrupt" that they must wash the mouth after every meal, "sleepe with the mouth somewhat open . . . and in the morning take a linnen-cloth and rub the teeth well within and without." In Vaughan's time several varieties of tooth powder were known, the recipe for one of the simplest being as follows: "Burne a peece of Corke till it looks like a Coale, then take it out of the Fire and it will fall to ashes, wherewith rub your teeth."—London Chronicle.

Novel Rabbit Catcher.

Crabs are put to a curious use on certain parts of the Devonshire foreshore. They are used to catch rabbits. Having located a promising burrow, the snarer takes a crab and affixes a short length of lighted candle to the back of its shell. The behavior of a crab which finds itself in a narrow inclosure is well known. It begins to run. It therefore starts away up the burrow at top rate and presently the rabbit is horrified at the sight of a jog trotting dame coming to his sanctuary. Off he goes for the other exit, only to find himself, when he emerges, in a trap.—London Spectator.

His Mental Incapacity.

The Court—So you ask divorce from this man on the ground of mental incapacity? What proof have you that he's insane? The Woman—Who said he was insane, your honor? The Court—Why, you say he is mentally incapable. The Woman—Yes; incapable of understanding that I'm boss.

COUNT FERDINAND ZEPPELIN.

INVENTOR SAID TO ACCOMPANY ZEPPELINS IN LONDON RAIDS.

London, Sept. 17.—Dispatches arriving here from Copenhagen and Amsterdam, state that Count Ferdinand Zeppelin, inventor of the German war dirigibles which bear his name, has accompanied the German aerial fleet on its recent London raids.

CECIL DENIES PEACE PROPOSALS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Rome, Sept. 17.—Lord Robert Cecil's declaration in the English parliament that Germany has not made any peace proposals and that no peace proposals could be imagined at this time which would be acceptable to the allies caused a tremendous sensation here in view of the great efforts being made by the Vatican to end the war.

Lord Robert Cecil is under-secretary to the British foreign office. Cardinal Gasquet of England, one of the most influential members of the holy see, called upon Pope Benedict yesterday and it was generally supposed that the visit was connected in some way with the pope's efforts to bring about peace. It has been rumored that the peace efforts of the Vatican were making satisfactory progress and some went so far as to predict that preliminary peace conversation might soon be expected.

The statement of Lord Cecil, however, was a flat indication that the Vatican's peace efforts have been useless so far as England is concerned. This attitude is opposite to that of Germany, for it was recently made plain by government organs in Germany that the Kaiser's government would consider any reasonable peace proposals that the Vatican might put forth.

Fell to Her Death.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 17.—While trying to escape from the Magdalene home at Inwood-on-Hudson by climbing out of a third story window early today, Helen Miller, 23, fell to her death in the yard below.

CIVILIANS ORDERED TO LEAVE TRENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Rome, Sept. 17.—The few remaining civilians in Trent have been ordered out by the Austrian military authorities as a result of the new gains of the Italians in their campaign against the capital of Trentino. Italian aviators report a steady exodus from the city.

The evacuation of Rovereto by the Austrians is now complete.

Many non-combatants in Trentino are being shot by the Austrian military authorities without trial, because of espionage suspicions.

In the upper Genova valley fighting which resulted favorably to the Italians has taken place 10,000 feet in the air upon the craggy peaks of Cresta and Villa Corna.

On the Isonzo front the Austrians are using bombs filled with prussic acid.

Ponckhockie Union Church.

The first morning service ever held in the Ponckhockie Union Church was held Sunday, September 12. Those having the honor of acting at this service were the Rev. F. Moot of Schenectady, preacher, Mrs. Charles M. DuBois, organist, James McCausland and Walter Tammany, ushers, the congregation numbering about fifty.

Still Hot in New York.

New York, Sept. 17.—The ninth day of record-breaking heat wave brought no indication of relief here. Reports from throughout the east showed all cities still sweltering. It was 86 here at 1 p. m. Prostrations were numerous.

Meat Prices Take a Long Drop at Lay's!

This market feels it a bounden duty to be always ready and most happy to accept each member of the public as a candid critic of its words and actions, free to check us or any employee in any divergence, however slight, from the straight path which our accepted principles mark out. It is our unflinching belief that, recognizing our good faith and appreciating our methods, the public will respond with full confidence in return. Liberality in dealing, a progressiveness that makes each day better than the day before, an unflinching courtesy and a fertile originality that must never fail to evolve what is new and best in our line, are vital factors of this market's success.

BATTLE BEGINS ON RIO GRANDE

By Telegram to The Freeman
Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 17.—
Carmen soldiers in Mexican and American soldiers engaged in a pitched battle across the Rio Grande today. The conflict was opened when the Mexicans fired upon American soldiers, apparently trying to kill a peace officer patrolling the American bank of the river. Then shots were exchanged and the American soldiers fired back. The battle continued for several hours, with the Americans on the Rio Grande side the victors.

At 12 o'clock this afternoon the Mexican soldiers were still firing from the bridge near Matamoros.
The American soldiers had then taken up positions in their trenches on the river bank at a distance of several miles from the Mexican soldiers.

News of the battle caused intense excitement here. Troops were rushed to the international bridge to prevent any attempt to cross.

THE DAY OF ATONEMENT.

Fasting and Confession Mark Exercises Held by the Jews.

The Day of Atonement will be observed by the Jews this evening and on Saturday. The ritual service is held in the evening. The entire day Saturday is devoted to it. The Ritual of the Day is public and congregational, but its significance is personal.

The day brings the people together, because they share the limitations of human nature, and because they are equally aware of the fact that our careers, whatever they may be, are only a series of disappointments, and that our only hope is in ourselves in accordance with our moral or immortal interests. This Holy day gives opportunity for earnest thought on our inner life. The difficulties men encounter in the course of a busy year may prove, after self-examination, to be not "deceits" of God but instances of their shortcomings. The ancient Israelites humbly called them "sins."

The reminiscences of centuries cling to this day of days and make its lesson suggestive and impressive. In ancient times priests solemnly invoked it with dignity the persecutions of later times gave it pathos and intense terror. It is always a salutary experience to take the sins of life as they are, to realize that there are no sins and delusions, to bring home to ourselves the truth that we work under the limitations of mind, heart and will. Men who feel their responsibilities will neither ignore this reminder nor evade the appeal. They will frankly avow the shortcomings of their common human nature in the midst of their fellowmen.

The day is as little as for penitence which is merely penance. It is too much a spirit by which we may acquire moral strength. The first act of moral health is humility. The ritual of the day expresses penitence sympathy and a desire to attain to a moral will. And so do the customs of the day. Fasting is meant as a discipline of self-control, the sponsor of many virtues. Concentration upon the problems of character makes it easy and noble. Public confession of sins is an act of will an assertion of the best in one's self. The day brings men together in a consciousness of their common mortality. Judaism makes men genuinely democratic. It makes them realize that they are equal before God.

One phase of the ritual of the day

This modest man doesn't want to discover that 7th point.

It would make him too famous.

Splendid Array of Saturday Specials AT WASHINGTON MARKET

Every bush grows a "Saturday Special Sale" these days. You can buy aimless, nameless, worthless meats for a fiddler's pence. It behooves housekeepers to be wary in "looking" and chary in buying during warm weather. You can't possibly "slip" or "trip up" if you purchase meats of us. The primary aim of Washington Market is to supply customers with the best cuts at the lowest possible prices. And if "cleanliness is next to godliness" this market is—figuratively speaking—next door to the abode of saints. You may select something extra fine for Sunday's dinner from the appendix list of Saturday's Specials.

If This Is Your Birthday SEPTEMBER 17

The people of this birthdate come under the influence of Virgo and we find them having a strong love for nature, a keen desire for the enjoyment of the world, and love for beauty, harmony of color and sound. We find them strong in the region of the solar plexus, where they are able to generate much magnetism. Order, method, self-reliance and an inquisitive persistent nature characterize this nature.

The most favorable period for the person of this birthdate to make changes in location, in business or to start a new project is during the week of May 10 and December 21. The week of June 21 should be avoided.

The Freeman Want Ads will secure good office help and capable domestic helpers during the coming week.

THINNING RANKS OF ULSTER GUARD

Seventeen Members of Old Twentieth

Have Died During Past Year and Only 41 Attend the Reunion.

The fifty-fourth annual reunion of the survivors of the gallant old Twentieth Regiment was held today at the Kingston Hotel on Crown street and 41 of the veterans answered "present" at the roll call. Since the last reunion seventeen members of the old regiment have passed to the "Eternal Encampment."

The clear skies early today accounted for the large number that attended the reunion and they were accompanied by their wives and families. Although it was extremely warm in the sun the cool shade of the back porch of the hotel made an ideal meeting place and the business meeting was held there. Before the meeting was called to order a program of patriotic music was rendered by an orchestra in charge of Drum Major James Pierce of New York city.

The meeting was called for noon but long before that time the veterans began to assemble at the hotel and spent the time talking over the days that are passed and fighting again the battles had not seen each other since the last reunion.

The following officers were elected at the business meeting, which was called at noon by Comrade E. J. Nichols, the president of the association: President, Comrade Alfred Tanner of Kingston. Vice president, Comrade Hiram E. Terwilliger of Ellenville. Treasurer, Comrade Joseph She-lightner of Kingston. Secretary, Comrade William Vallette of Kingston. Chaplain, Comrade Eugene Hill of Garfield, N. J.

Assistant chaplain, the Rev. Joseph Millett of Tilton. Drum major, Comrade James Pierce of New York city. After the invocation pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Millett the secretary called the roll.

Forty-one veterans responded to the roll call. They were: Robert J. Barnett, Kingston. Asa Bishop, Ashokan. Virgil Britt, Port Ewen. Gilbert E. Cornlius, Ellenville. Anson D. Carney, Leroy, Pa. Augustus Cole, New York city. Hezekiah Carle, Kingston. Oliver A. Campbell, Brooklyn. James O. Dunnigan, Ashokan. John Donovan, Lackawack. Ephraim R. Witt, Kingston. J. Wesley Edmunds, Arlington, N. J.

William Flowers, Kingston. George L. Hughes, Peekskill. Stephen Howard, Woodstock. Andrew Harkness, West Shokan. Luther H. Lawrence, Kingston. Daniel Murphy, Kingston. Douglas Marquard, Rhinebeck. George Markie, Albany. Daniel McMichael, Kingston. John McNickie, New York city. Frank J. Nichols, Winochka. Henry J. Newell, Kingston. James Pierce, New York city. Silas W. Perrine, Slightsburgh. George E. Pells, Kingston. Ira Porter, Moosic, Pa. David Palen, Fulda, Minn. Aaron Rhodes, Highland. Francis A. Reahart, Kingston. Charles H. Styles, Kingston. Joseph She-lightner, Kingston. Isaac Thomas, New York city. Alfred Tanner, Kingston. Hiram H. Terwilliger, Ellenville. Rodney B. Van Keuren, Blooming-ton.

Enos B. Vail, Brooklyn. William Vallette, Kingston.

17 Answered Last Roll Call.

Secretary William Vallette reported that seventeen had answered the last roll call during the past year. They were: William Arnold, Melville Atkins, James H. Bunto, Trustin Edmunds, Peter Gillespie, Bernard McBride, Judson D. McCreery, George Reymar, Josiah Quick, David Short, William Krom, John Kenney, Isaac Lawrence, Isaac A. Hammond, Simon Van Wagner, Michael Farrell, John Halstead.

Word From Absent Comrades.

Secretary Vallette read several communications from absent comrades who were unable to attend but who sent greetings and the hope that they would be able to meet with the "boys" next year. Those who wrote were Dr. J. J. Krom of St. Augustine, Florida, the Rev. Eugene Hill of Garfield, N. J., Ira Porter of Dursey, Pa., Edwin W. Finch of Hillsdale, Michigan.

It was also reported that Duane C.

DUTCHER OF BIG INDIAN was ill and unable to be present. To make up for his absence, however, he was represented by his wife and daughter.

The Campfire Held.

Following the business session a number of the comrades were called upon to make brief addresses. It had been decided by those in charge of the reunion that it would be much more pleasant for the comrades to have addresses and talks delivered by the members present rather than to call upon some outside speakers to address the veterans. That this plan seemed to meet with general approval seemed the consensus of opinion of the comrades.

Dinner Served.

Following the campfire the veterans formed in line and marched into the spacious dining room which had been artistically decorated for the occasion and Mrs. Host Flowers served the following fine menu: Cantaloupe, Turkey Broth with Noodles, Celery, Pickles, Beets, Stuffed Tomatoes, Mignon of Beef with Mushroom Sauce, Pricassee of Spring Chicken, Mashed Potatoes, Creamed Turnips, Fried Egg Plant, Combination Salad, Ice Cream, Cake, Coffee.

Reunion a Success.

The reunion was one of the most successful ever held and the committee deserve great credit for the arrangements that had been made. At a late hour this afternoon the reunion broke up with the wish that all might see each other at the reunion next year.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Miss Cecelia McConnell of Furnace street is visiting friends in Weehawken.

Mrs. T. Conlin of Fair street is spending a few weeks in New York city.

Mrs. Charles Reiser of Delaware avenue, who has been very ill, is convalescing.

Deputy Sheriff Jacob Huben, the hustling real estate dealer of Rosendale, was in town on business today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Frank Merritt of Van Buren street have returned from Atlantic city.

Mrs. Ann Gabriel of 21 Willow street was taken to the Kingston City Hospital this morning for treatment.

The Misses Margaret Lunch and Irene Connors are spending their vacation at H. M. Colwell's, 81 Fair street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Jones of Henry street are guests of their granddaughter, Mrs. Carl East, of Ashokan, N. Y.

Miss Maude Doyle of Summit, N. J., is spending a few days as the guest of her friend, Mrs. Zela Voorhes, at her home on Pearl street.

Lieutenant Miller of Albany avenue has returned from Watervliet, N. Y., where he visited the Watervliet arsenal and renewed former acquaintances.

Mrs. Philip J. Doherty of 91 Hone street, who is at the Benedictine Sanitarium, where she underwent a very serious operation, is convalescing rapidly under the care of Dr. W. J. and Dr. J. G. O'Leary.

Corn Roast, Tonight.

The members of the Adriel Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church, and their friends, will enjoy a hay ride and corn roast this evening. The hay rigging will be at the First Presbyterian Church this evening at 7 o'clock, ready for the party, which will go to the residence of Mr. Legg at Legg's Mills. The grounds will be illuminated for the occasion and there will be two bonfires, one near the grounds and the other near the water. The roasted corn, ice cream and cake will be served, games will be played and the party will have a delightful ride home by the light of the harvest moon.

Big Crowd at Game.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Fenway Park, Boston, Sept. 17.—A throng of fully 20,000 was on hand today when the Red Sox, the American League leaders, squared off in the second battle for the fourth game of the series with the second place Detroit Tigers. Manager Carrigan, of the Red Sox, sent Dutch Leonard after the game, while Hughie Jennings waved at James for mound duty.

Navigation Notes.

The tug Baker is bound down the river from Albany with a large Cornell tow. The John H. Cordis is bound up from New York.

A special ice tow is again bound down the river today owing to the great demand for that commodity in New York.

At Evergreen Park.

A prize dance will be held at Evergreen Park on Saturday evening. Four artists from Dakota will appear with the latest creation, the twilight dance. A number of out of town guests, who are summering in this vicinity, will be present to compete. E. V. Allen's orchestra will render music.

SHAW WILL BUILD THE NEW THEATER

Arthur J. Shaw, a well known theatrical man of New York, was in town today and looked over the proposition of the new theater on Broadway on the Kingston Carriage Company property. Mr. Shaw was favorably impressed with Kingston and its advantages from a theatrical standpoint. He will be associated with Manager Fischer in the erection and future management of the new Casino. Work on the new theater will be started in a few days.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 17.—There was wild trading in General Motors at the opening in response to the announcement of the $50 cash dividend. The first sale was made at 280 against 263 at the close yesterday and within a few minutes a further advance of eleven points was made, bringing the price up to 291, a gain in all of 28 points. Changes in other issues were of moderate amount generally although Colorado Fuel continued in good demand, advancing 1 1/2 to 54. Republic Iron and Steel rose 1 1/2 to 45 and Great Northern Ore advanced 1 1/2 to 43. Crucible Steel after an early gain of 1/2 to 93 1/2, yielded to 92 1/2. Studebaker was also extremely strong, advancing 3 1/2 to 120 1/2, a new high record. Steel Common, which yielded 1/2 to 70 1/2 in the first few minutes rose to 75, and Westinghouse advanced 1/2 to 116 1/2. Central Leather was unusually active, moving up 1 1/2 to 45 1/2. Rock Island advanced 1/2 to 20 1/2.

Advances throughout the list were in order in the late forenoon. Baldwin Locomotive sold up to 81 1/2, a gain of 2 1/2. A gain of 2 1/2 was made in Goodrich Rubber, which sold at 65 1/2. General Electric advanced to 174, a gain of 2 1/2 points net. Substantial gains were made in the Maxwell Motor issues. Steel common rose 1/2 to 75 1/2, a gain of 1/2 for the morning. The copper issues were fractionally higher. There were also fractional advances in the railway group. Money loaning at 1 1/2 per cent.

Price changes were small and unimportant the first half of the last hour. The tone was firm. Colorado Fuel and Iron sold around 57 1/2, against 52 1/2 at the close last night. The market closed irregular; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Sept. 17.—The preliminary battles give the fans the best run for their money. Star boats miss times out of ten are disappointed.

The "Pork-and-Beaner" boys know nothing about the science of the game. All they know is that they are in the ring for the purpose of slugging each other and they surely do. They stand on and for and for and do nothing else but hit. The "Pork-and-Beaner" boys know nothing about the science of the game. Matty Baldwin a Music Lover.

Matty Baldwin, the Boston light-weight, is a "buz" on grand opera. Baldwin never misses a concert of this kind and often times during the winter makes tour or five special trips to New York to attend the Metropolitan Opera House festivities.

Baldwin has an appreciation of the classical music far beyond that of any man in the ring, and far beyond that of 90 per cent of the ordinary music lovers. He has been attending concerts for years, knows every one of the great operas, can play them and sing them.

Some years ago Baldwin was billed to fight in a star bout in Boston. He was to get $1,000 as his share of the proceeds. A few days before the fight was to be staged Baldwin dropped around to the promoter and asked that the match be cancelled.

"My reason is that I want to attend an operatic performance which is to be put on here the same night as the fight," said Baldwin.

The promoter refused to let Baldwin withdraw and the matter was finally adjusted by shifting the time for the Baldwin bout from 10 p. m. to 11:15 p. m., which gave Baldwin time enough to attend the opera and get back to the arena and into his ring togs.

Vacation of High Clubs Ends.

The fight game is beginning its annual knock-out just now. Many of the clubs that closed their doors for the summer are now reopening.

Owners will inaugurate the 1915-1916 season in a few days. It is certain that practically all the clubs in the country will be open for business by the first of October.
